McLOUGHLIN AND BUNDY LOSE TENNIS TITLE TO CHALLENGERS

Johnston and Griffin Now Doubles Champions by Reason of Winning Three Out of Five Sets.

fighting furiously through the railies, William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin won the national lawn tennis doubles championship titles yesterday, after five of the hardest sets ever contested for these honors on the American courts. It was a tremendous struggle from the first service, held a great crowd thrilled and spellbound about and turf of the West Side Tennis Club, at Forest Hills, as the old holders of the championship, Maurice E. Mc-Loughlin and Thomas C. Bundy, were conquered by the score of 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

There was more than the passing of a title to the match. It took from Mc-Loughlin, the hero of Davis cup matches, and a year ago declared the greatest wielder of the tennis racquet in the world, the last of his national laurels. Gallantly he tried to wrest the games from the challengers. He was not always accurate, but the same indomitable spirit flashed to the fore, and in the fourth set he lifted his game to its highest flight, for there he stormed the net, often rashly, but his daring brought its reward, as it used daring brought its reward, as it used bundy. matches, and a year ago declared the greatest wielder of the tennis racquet in the world, the last of his national laurels. Mere Such Close Tennis.

Probably never before in the history of the doubles has a contest of five sets been fought for the championship with such a narrow margin between the victors and the vanquished. On the entire tabulation Johnston and Griffin scored one more game than the old champions, who have held the title ever since 1912; when they took it from Raymond D. Little and fustave F. Touchard on the likewise a difference of one point in the respective totals, but this, strangerly enough, was on the side of the defending champions, who had a total of twelve, than any of the following the court of the ball with that swift and the victors and the vanquished of the defending champions, who had a total of twelve, than any of the five five profit of the ball with that swift and the victor and the victor

Nevertheless, it was Bundy, the old Napoleon of the courts, who directed the maneuvering of the defense. He mixed up the lobbs and the drives in bewildering array, always striving to check the fatal accuracy of Johnston's forehanders. In a measure Bundy was successful. He kept pounding away at Griffin, making him the target of a fire from all parts of the court until, had it not been for the timely reinforcement of Johnston, who began to forget position in his eagerness to save his partner from a cannonading, Bundy might have turned a defeat into a triumph.
